Renewing Parish Life and Pastoral Planning

“Pastoral planning is the process of praying and thinking together about the actions of the Body of Christ in a particular time and place...it is the process of being clear about the present, projecting a future that seems desirable, and specifying the steps necessary to arrive at that future.”

Dr. William L. Pickett

A Concise Guide to Pastoral Planning

Ave Maria Press 2007

Pastoral planning, the reflection and preparation that allows us to carry out the Church’s mission well, is one of the most significant priorities of the Archdiocese and the Universal Church. It is a process that must take place during every age and within every climate, but it is particularly important that it take place in times of great change, such as these. As we look at the aging and shortage of priests, the population shift from cities to suburbs, and the condition of churches and schools built years or even centuries ago, we must thoughtfully consider how to best meet the pastoral needs of the people of God.

The tools of the pastoral planning process are both practical and spiritual. Parishes and Archdiocesan staff are working together to assess the best use of resources and to propose new ways of organizing. Collaborative efforts among parishes will be key to enhancing the effectiveness of pastoral care. We also seek to renew the spirit of the baptized as we respond to Pope John Paul II’s call to bring the Gospel to all people in a way that is new in “ardor, methods and expression.” And we hope to inspire an increased commitment to the giving of time, talent and treasure. For it requires the efforts of laity and clergy together to carry out Christ’s work on earth.

Pastoral planning involves change, change made for the sake of growth that will strengthen us as we continue our work in mission, sharing the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Acts 4:11-12

The Shepherd's Voice By Dr. Scott Hahn

In today's Gospel, Jesus says that He is the good shepherd the prophets had promised to Israel. He is the shepherd-prince, the new David - who frees people from bondage to sin and gathers them into one flock, the Church, under a new covenant made in His blood (see Ezekiel 34:10-13, 23-31). His flock includes other sheep, He says, far more than the dispersed children of Israel (see Isaiah 56:8; John 11:52). And He gave His Church the mission of shepherding all peoples to the Father. In today's First Reading, we see the beginnings of that mission in the testimony of Peter, whom the Lord appointed shepherd of His Church (see John 21:15-17). Peter tells Israel's leaders that the Psalm we sing today is a prophecy of their rejection and crucifixion of Christ. He tells the "builders" of Israel's temple that God has made the stone they rejected the cornerstone of a new spiritual temple, the Church (see Mark 12:10-13; 1 Peter 2:4-7). Through the ministry of the Church, the shepherd still speaks (see Luke 10:16), and forgives sins (see John 20:23), and makes His body and blood present, that all may know Him in the breaking of the bread (see Luke 24:35). It is a mission that will continue until all the world is one flock under the one shepherd. In laying down His life and taking it up again, Jesus made it possible for us to know God as He did - as sons and daughters of the Father who loves us. As we hear in today's Epistle, He calls us His children, as He called Israel His son when He led them out of Egypt and made His covenant with them (see Exodus 4:22-23; Revelation 21:7). Today, let us listen for His voice as He speaks to us in the Scriptures, and vow again to be more faithful followers. And let us give thanks for the blessings He bestows from His altar.
